Where Design Quality & Performance Quality Meet

Established in 1951, Memorial Hospital, located inside the 15 acre Memorial Hospital and Health Care Center campus, is a 5 story, 500,000 square foot facility that continues to successfully operate out of Jasper, Indiana. The hospital specializes in over 30 different medical fields and procedures, and their 137-bed facility covers 6,600 inpatients and 254,000 outpatients per year. With so many patients and ceaseless foot and wheeled traffic, the facility sought a quality flooring solution that elevated design priority to the same levels as performance, endurance, and reliability. Enter Decoria[®], the flagship line of performance LVT from Adore[®], that launched as a leading healthcare-oriented LVT when products were first introduced to the U.S.

Today, Decoria[®] is recognized among the best commercial LVTs in the market by many as a result of numerous installations, test floors, and critical evaluations. Gerry Miller, the Construction Coordinator and Project Manager at Memorial Hospital, specified Decoria[®] for other Memorial Hospital-owned outlying clinics and buildings throughout Indiana. From glowing performance and maintenance feedback, to the reliable delivery of products, he noted the good experiences many of those facilities were having with the well-established flooring line, so he was convinced Decoria[®] would also be the right solution for the main hospital building. The hospital staff also agrees with Gerry, and they have remarked about the product's ease of care & maintainance.

Danielle Downer, the regarded BSA LifeStructures designer on the project, also heard good things about Decoria[®]. When choosing a product, she looks for an aesthetically-pleasing, durable, high performance, scratch-resistant floorcovering. Although Decoria[®] had been recommended to her by the hospital, she independently chose Adore Decoria MA-M002 Maple Toffee strictly due to the terrific feedback she received from their satellite facilities.

Memorial Hospital was not the only satisfied party in this experience with Decoria[®]. Continuing the consistent feedback on Decoria[®], Mark Knies of Knies Flooring, the project's flooring contractor, also stated Decoria[®] was great to work with throughout the installation and confirmed no issues occurred with the product.

Decoria[®] is Adore's oldest, highest design, and heaviest commercial LVT line. From specification, to delivery, to installation, to use, Decoria[®] champions quality in design and relentless performance for the most demanding clientele.
